CHANGE

When Margaret Hodson graduated from college, she was “looking for a program that would help me discern my vocation through the lens of my faith.” But “there was no Orthodox year-of-service program.” Now there is! At Orthodox Volunteer Corps, you can serve at a nonprofit, gain professional experience, deepen your faith, develop your leadership, live in community, and connect to the Church. Join OVC.

OUR CALL

In the Orthodox Church, we have taken up the call to train our children and youth. But fewer formative opportunities exist for young adults despite the pivotal nature of these years. Orthodox theology, tradition, practice, and history create a unique understanding and expression of formation through service. Young adults of the 21st century are hungry to serve and make an impact on our world. They deserve the challenge and investment of Orthodox Volunteer Corps.

OUR MISSION

To ignite and equip young adults to catalyze transformative service for Church and world

OUR MODEL

We grow in relationship. OVC is a web of relationships—of giving & receiving, learning & sharing, serving and being served.
